Text:	Business Law Alternate Edition (12 th edition), Miller, Cross, Cengage Learning.
Supplemental Readings:	Supplemental readings may be assigned by the instructor.
Course Description:	This course explores the legal environment in which accounting professionals and businesses operate. Topics include the Uniform Commercial Code-Articles 2, 3 and 9, Creditors rights, Mortgages, Bankruptcy, Agency and Employment law, Forms of business, including sole proprietorship, LLCs, partnerships and corporations, Personal and Real Property law, Insurance, Wills and Trusts, and Ethics

Course Goals:

- To familiarize students with legal terminology, especially in the areas of contracts and the UCC, and other areas of law relevant to accounting.
- To discuss the overarching issue of legal and business ethics, and assist students in learning to apply ethics principles to a broad range of legal situations.
- To discuss the changes in the legal and business environment caused by technology and the global market, and to help students begin to navigate the legal issues within these developing realities.
- To teach students the basic principles of a variety of types of business law, including real and personal property, secured transactions, agency and employment, bankruptcy, wills and trusts, among others and to learn to apply these principles to specific fact situations.
- To teach students the basic principles of the Uniform Commercial Code, with focus on Articles 2, 3 and 9, and how to apply the UCC to a set of facts.

Learning Objectives

- The student will be able to use and understand basic legal terminology appropriate to a pre-law class level.
- The student will learn and be able to articulate the basic principles of common law contract law and a basic familiarity with Article 2 of the Uniform Commercial Code, including types of contracts covered by the UCC, differences between the UCC and common law contract law.

- The students will learn and be able to articulate issues involving the UCC Article 3, negotiable instruments and holders in due course.
- The students will become familiar with Article 9 of the UCC, negotiable instruments, and be able to explain the basic concepts of instrument transfer.
- Students will become familiar with and be able to articulate creditor's rights and consumer rights in a business setting.
- Students will become familiar with the basic legal issues in real estate law, mortgages and personal property law and be able to apply them to factual situations.
- Students will become familiar with basic labor and employment law and agency and apply it to factual situations.
- Students will understand the basic and most common forms of business organization, to include sole proprietorship, LLCs, partnerships and corporations.
- Students will learn the fundamental legal issues in wills and trusts law.
- Students will learn ethical considerations in accounting and be able to apply them to factual situations.
- The student will develop critical thinking skills in the legal area that will allow him or her to distinguish key differences and similarities between cases, and then apply concepts and legal principles to a set of facts.
- The student will develop critical thinking skills in the area of accounting ethics and be able to apply ethics principles to fairly complex facts, including the discernment of relevant and irrelevant facts to the ethical issue.

Testing: Students will be given tests based on the material discussed in class and covered in the readings. The midterm and final will be planned exams. In addition, students may be given written assignments throughout the semester. Testing will emphasize legal terminology, critical thinking, understanding of concepts discussed in class, and the application of the concepts to a set of facts.

Preparation: It is expected that each student will read the assigned material before class and be able to discuss the issues and cases if called upon. In addition, students should take notes in class, since some of the material on the exams will be from lecture and may not be covered in the text.

Expectations: Academic Dishonesty Academic dishonesty, including cheating or plagiarism on tests or assignments, will not be tolerated, and will result in expulsion from the class with a grade of F and in some cases further action may be sought. Absolute honor and integrity are expected from students enrolled in this class. Students are expected to be familiar with and follow the Concord University Academic Dishonesty Policy.

“Academic dishonesty is morally unacceptable as well as destructive to the learning and teaching atmosphere. Academic dishonesty includes the giving or receiving of improper help on examinations or assignments, falsifying documents, and plagiarism (the act of stealing and using, as one's own, the ideas or the expression of the ideas of another). Such dishonesty can lead to a variety of penalties — including but not limited to failure of assignment, failure of course, loss of institutional privileges, or dismissal from the University.” Concord University Academic Catalog.

Students are expected to follow the Honor Code while in this class. Honor Code: “As a member of the Concord University Community I will act with honesty and integrity in accordance with our fundamental principles and I will respect myself and others while challenging them to do the same.”

Cell Phone Usage Cell phone use is not permitted in the classroom except in the case of emergency. This includes calling, texting, instant messaging, accessing the Internet/Facebook, listening to music, and other activities which will detract from active learning. Likewise, laptops in the classroom are permitted only for the purposes of taking notes if needed in the classroom or conducting permitted research. Repeated violation of this rule may result in the student being asked to leave the class.

Non-Students in the Classroom Students may not bring children to the class at any time. Students may only bring adult guests to the classroom with the prior consent of the instructor.

Disruptive Activity There will be zero tolerance for disruptive activity in the classroom. The instructor will treat students with respect. In turn, students must treat the instructor, guests and other students with respect and tolerance. Any infraction of this rule by any student may lead to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal from the course. Students should make every effort to be on time for class, and should not leave the class early except in case of illness or with the prior consent of the instructor.

Attendance Policy/Make-Up Work Attendance is expected at each class during the semester. However, there may be times when a student may have to miss all or part of a class due to illness or other personal reasons. The student must notify the instructor in advance if he or she is going to miss class. This notification must be via either e-mail prior to the class or by telephone/text prior to the class. It is the responsibility of the student to make arrangements to make up any work missed with the instructor immediately upon the return to class. The student must not wait until the end of the semester to turn in make-up work unless given express permission to do so by the instructor. If make-up work is turned in after the deadline set by the instructor, the student will not receive credit for that work in the course.

If the instructor finds that the student is missing too many classes to learn the material, the instructor will notify the student that he or she may be removed from the class roster. This decision will be made on a case by case basis. In any event, because this is an evening class with limited class meetings, a student missing more than two classes should arrange for a conference with the instructor to discuss the impact the absences may have upon the final grade for the course, and whether the student will be allowed to finish the course. NOTE- FAILURE TO ATTEND CLASS REGULARLY MAY HAVE A NEGATIVE IMPACT ON THE FINAL COURSE GRADE.

Grading Scale A standard grading scale for exams and written assignments will be used:

90-100	A
80-89	B
