Concord University Educational Goal(s):

#2 – Knowledge: Familiarity with principles underlying academic discourse in various fields;

#3 – Attitudes: Tendencies conducive to self-knowledge, personal growth and development and responsible citizenship.

The materials covered are chosen specifically to better the individual student as a performer and musician. Assignments are presented in an order of lesser to greater difficulty to foster growth in the individual, but will be adapted after assessment of the individual's ability.

After a semester's study the student will be able to accurately and musically perform the given assignments on their instrument. Each semester of private study is designed to support the preceding semester and prepare the student to play in university related ensembles, perform recitals, teach privately/individually, confidently approach auditions for performance related jobs, or continue their education toward graduate degrees.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty is morally unacceptable as well as destructive to the learning and teaching atmosphere. Academic dishonesty includes the giving or receiving of improper help on examinations or assignments, falsifying documents, and plagiarism (the act of stealing and using, as one's own, the ideas or the expression of the ideas of another). Such dishonesty can lead to a variety of penalties — including but not limited to failure of assignment, failure of course, loss of institutional privileges, or dismissal from the University. (See University Catalog Academic Policies and Procedures.)

Concord University Honor Code

A Concord University Honor Code was approved by students, staff, faculty, administration, and the CU Board of Governors. The Code states:

"As a member of the Concord University Community I will act with honesty and integrity in accordance with our fundamental principles and I will respect myself and others while challenging them to do the same."

The Honor Code is intended to unite the Concord community behind a culture of honesty, integrity, and civility.

Class/Online Attendance Policy

Regular class attendance is part of a student's academic obligation at Concord. Irregular attendance may affect academic performance adversely and is detrimental to the atmosphere of a class. (See University Catalog Academic Policies and Procedures.)

Miscellaneous:

Jury:

Students enrolled in lessons must complete an end of semester examination called a jury. The jury is a final examination of the student's performance skills illustrating their ability to perform assigned repertoire. In addition, the student must submit a research document with works cited. The contents of the paper should examine performance practice issues as they relate to the repertoire being performed, and historical/biographical information about the music. It would behoove the student to discuss their practice approach including analytical and theoretical research and practice techniques.

-Repertoire for the jury will be discussed in lessons throughout the semester.

-The paper must be submitted three weeks in advance to the instructor for proofing.
